

Myers-Briggs Type Indicator

General Description

The MBTI is the most widely used personality instrument in the world today. This interactive workshop builds the foundations for your team members to improve self awareness and discover their own and others' unique contributions to your organisation. With an understanding and appreciation of the 16 psychological types (innate personalities), your team will be better equipped to solve problems, manage change and take advantage of its diversity.

Duration

Myers-Briggs courses can be delivered in a 1 day format and can be customised to suit the learning requirements of your company.

Learning Outcomes

- ✓ Develop an introductory knowledge of personality type
- ✓ Appreciate the diversity of personality preferences
- ✓ Explore your own personality type
- ✓ Respond to a variety communication styles
- ✓ Apply information gathering techniques, to suit individual preferences
- ✓ Match language and style to others' personality, for effective communication

Optional Assessment

As Lotus Performance Management is a Registered Training Organisation (RTO), we offer clients a wide range of assessment options, which can be mapped to in-house, custom training and development programs. These assessments can result in the issuance of Nationally Recognised Qualifications or Statements of Attainment.

If you would like to add an assessment pathway to your program, please discuss this option with your consultant.